

Moderation guidelines for company reviews

We strive to show authentic, high-quality reviews to our job seekers.

We proof each incoming review to make sure it matches the following guidelines. We reserve the right to delete in whole any posting that in our discretion violates any of the below provisions.

1. The review should not contain any low-quality content

We will remove any submission containing:

- swear words
- defamatory statements
- bad grammar, spelling or punctuation

2. The review should not contain any legally questionable content

We will remove any submission containing:

- an assertion that the company violates the applicable law
- an assertion that the company does not comply with the legal requirements
- an invasion of a right of privacy of another person
- a discriminatory language targeted at an individual or a group

3. The review should not mention any names

We will remove any submission containing:

- individuals' names
- any information about an identifiable individual

4. The free-text fields should contain constructive content